Party giving is loving. It is giving. It is sharing. It is everybody's chance to light a little candle in the sometimes gloomy corners of the world. Someone has said that life itself is a party; you join after it's started and you leave before it's finished.

— Elsa Maxwell —

John Ralph Young Jr.

Robert D. Zeigler II

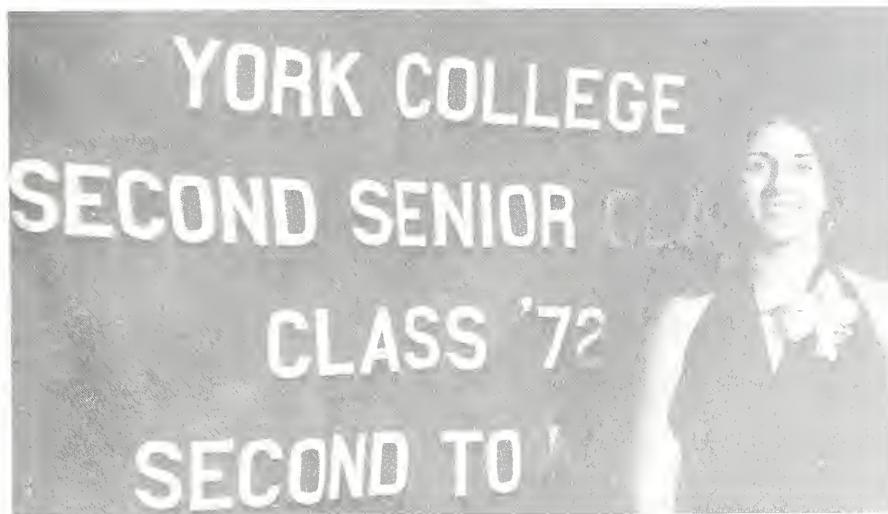

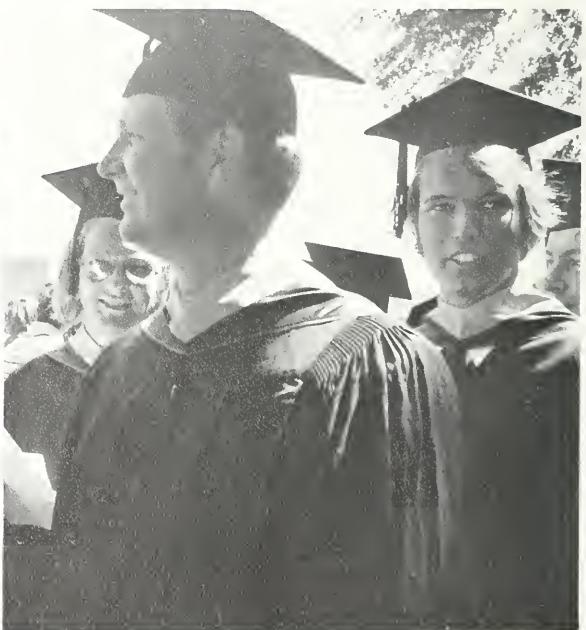

*We take each other by the hand,
And we exchange a few words and looks of kindness.
We rejoice together for a few short moments —
Then, days, months, years intervene and we see
And know nothing of each other.*

— Julia —

*I count myself in nothing else so happy
As in a soul remembering my good friends.*

— Shakespeare —

*The grand instructor

— Edmund Burke —*

Off on the long road to home we're meant to go it alone, still there are times we recall the ivy that clings to the wall.

— Rod McKuen —

Your children are not your children.

You may give them your love but not your thoughts.

— Kahlil Gibran —

*Sad is the farewell of another year
When youth has passed the tropics and must steer
Into the northern straits of chilling age
Where icebergs loom to mock and spur the rage
That rises in us as we contemplate
Their monumental beauty, and the fate
That winnowed all our early dreams to dust;
We only say farewell because we must.*

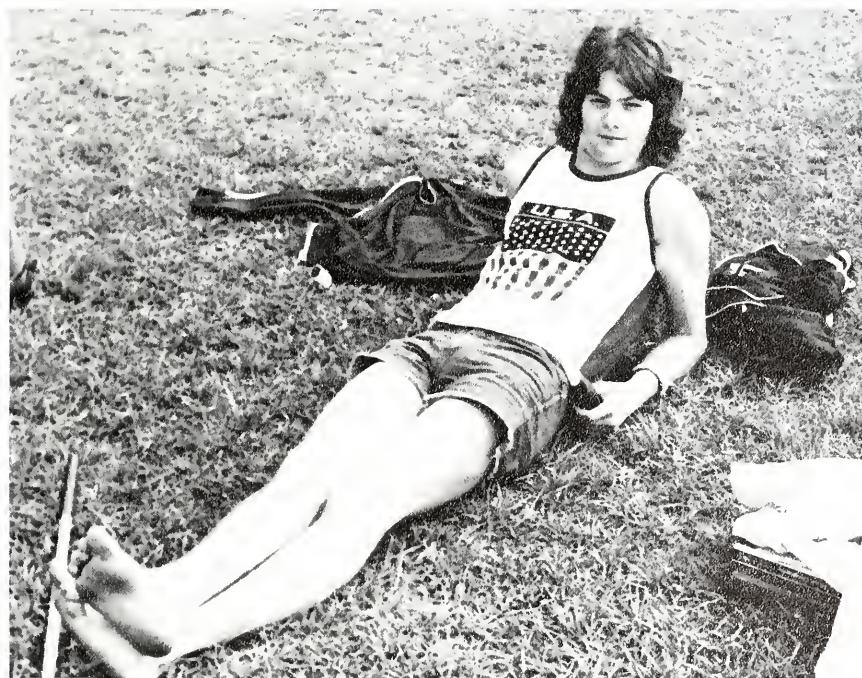

— Rod McKuen —

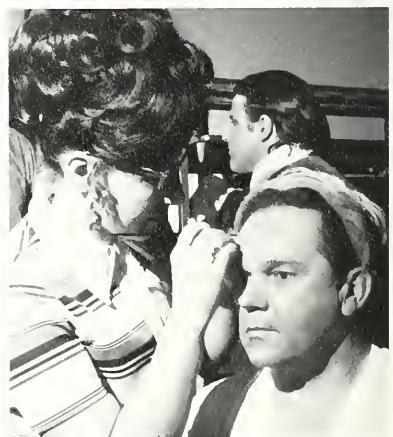

There is something about the temper and quality of these people, a gentleness, a quietness, an interest — something good.

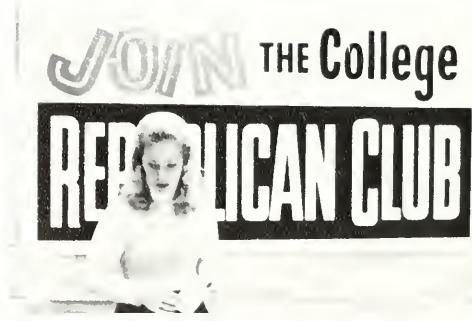

— Episcopal Bishop James Pike —

SPECIAL EVENTS

*It is not that what is done among the young is different or extreme;
it is simply that what is done feels differently in quality, in resonance.
It is a sense of warmth,
of slowness, and delight that seems to later the flesh and abide there.*

— Peter Marin —

God knows many of them are fools, and most of them will be sellouts, but they're a better generation than we were.

— Playwright Lillian Hellman —
